

2016 - 2017 annual report

what can be

Most Rev. Gerald F. Kicanas, D.D.

*Most Rev. Edward J.

Thank You and Welcome

For the last 14 years, Catholic Community Services of Southern Arizona has been profoundly blessed by the leadership and support of Bishop Gerald F. Kicanas of the Diocese of Tucson. He has guided us with wisdom and compassion through good times and challenging times, and we are so very grateful for all of his efforts to bring about “what can be” in our diocese and in the lives of the people we serve. Thank you, Bishop Kicanas, for all you have done. We will miss you and sincerely wish you well in your retirement.

Even as we say goodbye to Bishop Kicanas, we also welcome the Diocese of Tucson’s new bishop, Most Reverend Edward J. Weisenburger, J.C.L., D.D. We know him to be a man of love and compassion and are excited to explore with him the possibilities of what can be in our diocese. Bishop Weisenburger, we hope you enjoy your new life here in Tucson and look forward to working with you to advance Catholic Community Services throughout Southern Arizona.

Catholic Community Services Administration,
Staff and Board Members

Dear Friends,

The theme of our annual report this year, "What Can Be," expresses a sentiment we all ponder at some point in our lives, if not throughout our lives. We think about where we want to be, what we want to achieve, and where we want to go.

And yet often, we don't achieve "what can be" because we don't know where to start or what to do. We get discouraged and give up, not realizing that even the most gifted and capable people among us cannot accomplish their dreams without the help of others.

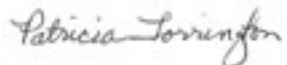

Helping people achieve what can be in their lives is our mission. Over many years, we have built up tremendous resources to help people do so in whatever stage of life they are in. These resources come in many forms, and we wouldn't have nearly so many without your support.

We hope that as you read this annual report, you will see how together we are helping people achieve the "what can be" in their lives. Thank you most sincerely.

With love,

Marguerite D. Harmon, MS
CCS Chief Executive Officer

Patricia Torrington
CCS Board President

Mary Anne Fay
CCS Foundation Board President

Our Vision

A compassionate and just community that upholds the God-given worth and dignity of every human being.

Our Mission

We strengthen children, adults, families and communities by providing help, creating hope and serving all.

Our Valued Actions

In order to accomplish our Mission, Catholic Community Services

- ▶ Responds to the call of the Gospel: "For I was hungry and you gave me food, I was thirsty and you gave me drink, a stranger and you welcomed me, naked and you clothed me, ill and you cared for me, in prison and you visited me." (Matthew 25:35-36)
- ▶ Respects life and protects children and vulnerable adults
- ▶ Collaborates and develops partnerships with others in the community to meet unmet needs
- ▶ Cultivates and implements new and creative responses to community, family, and individual needs
- ▶ Respects diversity in our community
- ▶ Encourages, supports, or restores self-reliance and self-determination through program design and delivery
- ▶ Encourages others to perform acts of charity
- ▶ Advocates for a just and compassionate society
- ▶ Recognizes and values the contributions of employees and volunteers through a positive work environment, equitable treatment and providing opportunities for growth and well-being
- ▶ Demands personal and professional integrity, honesty, and accountability from all employees, volunteers, and Board members as stated in the Code of Ethics.

“What can be”—It’s a phrase full of hope and possibilities.

It’s wistful.

It prompts imagination.

It asks a question.

“ what can be in my life? ”

Many people come to Catholic Community Services of Southern Arizona with a clear vision of what can be. They know what they want—they just need help getting there.

Some come knowing that they want more, but they don’t know exactly what. They’re searching and hoping that a vision will unfold.

Others come to us in difficult circumstances, unable to think of possibilities beyond resolving the crises at hand.

Wherever people are in their lives, we are ready and able to make “what can be” a reality, whether it’s helping a family start a new business, helping at-risk youth find hope and support, or helping a person in crisis find stability and peace.

It all starts with a vision and a willingness to work—on our part and on the part of the people we serve. We are privileged to be partners with them in achieving great things and in turning “what can be” into “what is.”

We at Catholic Community Services have a vision of what can be and should be in our homes and communities. Here is our vision, which we worked toward this year through the efforts of staff, clients, donors, and volunteers.

Strong and Secure Individuals and Families

By teaching good relationship and parenting skills, promoting financial stability and asset-building,
helping people overcome mental health issues and addictions, teaching life and home management skills, and encouraging opportunities for personal and family growth.

Happy and Thriving Children and Youth

By creating rich educational experiences and activities, providing loving and supportive teachers and mentors,
supporting foster children and families, creating families through adoption, and helping parents learn how to better care for their children.

Healthy and Independent Seniors

By meeting the housing, social, nutritional, health, and personal needs of seniors, and helping Catholic seniors stay connected with their faith and church communities while living or staying in retirement communities, nursing homes, the hospital, or hospice care.

Successful and Integrated Refugees and Immigrants

By supporting refugees in building new lives in the United States, assisting refugees in getting settled, finding jobs, learning English, and becoming accustomed to American culture and life, and providing assistance to immigrants in obtaining legal status and work authorization and reuniting with family members.

Hopeful and Contributing People with Disabilities

By supporting Deaf, DeafBlind, and Hard of Hearing people in improving their quality of life, helping them overcome barriers to communication, employment, and independence, and supporting individuals with disabilities in living with dignity and independence through residential support services.

Supported and Strengthened People in Crisis

By providing assistance with food, clothing, household and personal hygiene items, ensuring safety and recovery through domestic violence shelters and services, showing compassion and hospitality for traveling migrants, and bringing hope and love to people in prison.

TUCSON

Catholic Community Services–Tucson reaches well beyond the city to serve Pima, Pinal, and Gila Counties. Programs across these counties vary to include counseling, foster care services, assistance to immigrants and refugees, group living for pregnant or parenting teens and their infants, family strengthening services, and services for seniors including meals and case management.

building the new life he hoped for

Before Donatian and his family arrived in Tucson in August 2016, he had lived in a Ugandan refugee camp for 20 years after fleeing his native Congo. He had entered the camp as a boy, married and became a father there to five children. Life in the camp was difficult—resources were scarce, people could be malicious, and life was indefinitely on hold.

Since his arrival, Donatian has been making up for lost time. From the start, he wanted to become self-sufficient as soon as possible. Within a month, and with a uniform and bicycle provided by CCS-Tucson, Donatian was working at Tucson Medical Center (TMC) in the housekeeping department. Affable and hardworking and with English skills he'd picked up in the refugee camp, he was soon promoted to lead supervisor and trainer.

"My job means a lot to me," said Donatian. "It's stable. It's good. It's taking care of all of us."

Getting on his feet quickly has helped Donatian help others, particularly newly-arrived Congolese refugees. He helps them get jobs at TMC, and since January, he's been leading monthly meetings, teaching new arrivals where to get food they are familiar with, how to get and keep a job, how to do things right in a new culture, and more.

"I want to make it easier for families," said Donatian, who visits new arrivals regularly to offer support, guidance, and friendship. With a good start from CCS-Tucson, Donatian is doing just that, creating a meaningful life that he has waited so long for.

“ what can be made real ”

- ▶ 307 foster children across all five counties were served through the foster care program, with 71 foster families receiving support from CCS.
- ▶ 43 adoptions were completed this year.
- ▶ 429 men, women, and children received shelter, counseling, legal assistance, case management, and community referrals from the three domestic crisis shelters in Southeastern Arizona. An additional 119 people received legal aid and referrals without a shelter stay.
- ▶ 27,150 meals were delivered to homebound seniors, and 2,263 meals were provided for seniors at community meal sites.
- ▶ 86 families received supervised visitation between parents and their children living in out-of-home care.
- ▶ 95 families participated in our In-Home Support Services program, 86 of which were successful in remaining together or reunifying with their children from foster care.

SIERRA VISTA

Catholic Community Services–Sierra Vista serves residents in Cochise, Graham, Greenlee, Santa Cruz, and Gila Counties with foster care and adoptions, parent aide, and in-home services, as well as domestic crisis services in Cochise and Santa Cruz Counties and meals for seniors in Cochise County.

finding a love they never expected

When Dianna and Tim went to Sierra Vista's "Christmas with a Cop" event in December 2015, they never dreamed how their lives would change.

As a police officer, Tim was there to escort foster children on a shopping trip through a store. Dianna was there to assist, and as she moved about, she took notice of a charming two-year-old girl named Emma. Learning that the girl's foster care arrangement wasn't working out, she got an idea. Later, when she found Tim to tell him, there was Emma, leading him by the hand. Out of all the officers, Emma had chosen Tim!

"She's going to need a new home soon, I told him. And he said, 'Ok.' And just like that, our lives changed!" Dianna beamed.

The couple immediately turned to CCS-Sierra Vista and found out, as they hoped, that ordinary people like them could be foster parents and adopt. "You just need to be a decent person with love and compassion," Dianna reflected.

They joined the foster/adopt program and started on the coursework, paperwork, and requirements.

Their caseworker bent over backwards, said Dianna, to make them Emma's next foster parents. In May 2016, Emma came into their care, and in November 2016, at a National Adoption Day event held at, of all places, the police department, Emma joined Dianna and Tim's family permanently.

Dianna, Tim, and their two 20-year-old sons are experiencing life anew with Emma. "She has challenges to overcome, but our family adores her," said Dianna. "She has us wrapped around her fingers."

“ what can be made real ”

- ▶ 60 seniors at Daybreak Adult Day Health Center received 35,357 hours of personal care, nursing, and activities. 35 of the center’s seniors were able to maintain or increase their level of self-sufficiency.
- ▶ 429 frail or disabled individuals living in their own homes were supported with 56,400 home-delivered meals.
- ▶ 572 seniors or people with disabilities were served 23,846 meals at the Yuma North End Community Center, with 250 activities hosted by the center throughout the year.
- ▶ 73 parents in the Arizona Families FIRST (Families in Recovery Succeeding Together) Program and 170 other community members received over 7,733 hours of counseling and case management to support healing, increase coping skills, and provide a safe environment for personal growth.
- ▶ 256 adults and 251 child victims of domestic violence received 6,595 nights of emergency shelter at Safe House, along with counseling, case management, and legal assistance. Over 1,700 hours of lay legal advocacy was provided.

YUMA

Catholic Community Services–Yuma serves Yuma County with meals for seniors, counseling, domestic crisis services, and adult day health care for the elderly and disabled, as well as the Arizona Families FIRST program in Yuma and La Paz Counties.

finding the strength and support to change

Cassandra didn't really think she had an addiction problem when she entered CCS-Yuma's Arizona Families FIRST program, but she knew she needed to learn how to stay sober. She had been arrested for driving under the influence of marijuana and had lost custody of her son for a few months. He was back in her care, and she didn't want to lose him again.

At CCS-Yuma, Cassandra began attending a 3-hour class once a week and meeting with a counselor every other week. As she heard the experiences of others and shared her own, she began to see things as they were.

"I learned more about myself and saw that I have addictive behaviors," said Cassandra. "I saw that a lot of things were my fault."

Nery, Cassandra's counselor, helped her understand what brought on her cravings and how to redirect her thoughts and behaviors. She also helped Cassandra see traits in herself that made her vulnerable to abusive relationships—another area of concern when it came to her son's safety.

Cassandra and her son started attending the program's monthly "Family Night," where she learned how to have fun without using drugs or alcohol and also how to play and bond with her son.

Today, Cassandra has been sober for over a year. She's proud of the progress she's made. "It's really hard to change, but Nery helped me through it," said Cassandra. "I recognize better now my behaviors and emotions, and I'm a better mom to my son."

“ what can be made real ”

- ▶ 324 children and youth, ages 3 to 18, participated in Pio Decimo’s pre-school, after-school, and youth-at-risk programs. 96% of the participants were promoted to the next grade level. 52,000 healthy meals and snacks were served.
- ▶ 2,225 struggling families received 3,860 food boxes and more than 32,000 essential items, including clothing and shoes, household goods, and hygiene products.
- ▶ 24 homeless families with minor children resided in Pio Decimo’s transitional housing and received case management and group education to help improve finances, community involvement, employment opportunities, and parenting skills.
- ▶ 141 low- and middle-income seniors lived in a safe, comfortable, and affordable home through Pio Decimo’s senior housing.
- ▶ 18 households received a total of $22,000.00 in direct financial support, including rental and utility assistance, in order to find or retain housing.
- ▶ 201 families participated in financial education workshops; 54 families in homeownership education workshops.
- ▶ 92 residences were saved from foreclosure allowing the families to stay in their homes.
- ▶ 15 families became first-time homebuyers through matched savings in individual development accounts (IDAs), 1 family was able to buy their home with down payment assistance, and another family through the help of a VA loan.
- ▶ Volunteers and staff prepared 6,801 tax returns for low-income families, resulting in nearly $10.4 million in tax refunds, including $5.6 million in earned income tax credits.

PIO DECIMO CENTER

Pio Decimo Center, a community center in one of Tucson’s oldest neighborhoods, provides childcare, youth development programs, transitional housing, senior housing, housing counseling, asset-building, financial education, and basic needs assistance.

achieving what they never thought they could

Mario and Nancy never really thought about buying a home. They were living with relatives and couldn't find enough money for an apartment, let alone a house. But that changed when they moved into Pio Decimo Center's transitional housing and began taking part in classes and counseling to improve their finances.

"They asked us to set a goal, so we put 'buy a home,'" said Nancy. "But we never really thought we could achieve it."

With the help of budgeting classes and Pio's low-rent housing and free child care for their two young daughters, Mario and Nancy began building their savings.

They also took a course to better understand the home-buying process.

Over time, Mario and Nancy began to see that their goal was actually achievable. It still wasn't easy, but in the end, with the help of Pio's staff and a down payment assistance match on their savings, everything worked out, and the family is now living in their own home.

Mario and Nancy learned a valuable life lesson—that they could set a goal and achieve it. They also learned that there really are people who want to help. Their youngest daughter received an early childhood education scholarship at Pio Decimo, the first given out by the Open Door Scholarship Fund in loving memory of Elizabeth Ann Parkman.

"We are so thankful to Pio," said Mario. "They were always finding ways to help us. And now we have something we can say is our own."

For information on designating your support to The Open Door Scholarship Fund or a specific CCS agency or to learn about establishing individual Funds or Scholarships, please contact Liz McMahon at 520-670-0809 or email lizm@ccs-soaz.org.

“ what can be made real ”

- ▶ 2,750 Deaf and Hard of Hearing clients received 32,990 hours of interpreting.
- ▶ 759 Deaf and Hard of Hearing clients received comprehensive services, including independent living skills, parenting classes, vocational services, counseling and case management from COPD and VCD agencies. A total of 24,255 hours of service were provided and 243 people obtained employability skills and job placements in nursing care, warehouse work, manufacturing, clerical, customer service, animal care, custodial, city government, and food service.
- ▶ 35 youth received on-the-job experience through COPD's Summer Youth Employment Program.
- ▶ 47 individuals with 25 different disabilities received 178,313 hours of residential support services, ranging from a few hours daily of in-home support to 24-hour a day comprehensive care in a licensed group home.
- ▶ 772 medical appointments were completed for people receiving residential support, an average of 16 appointments per resident this year.
- ▶ 111 DeafBlind people received 14,235 hours of support services from COPD, COPD-NM, and VCD service providers.
- ▶ 34 DeafBlind people received assessment, communication equipment, and training on individualized communication devices.
- ▶ 70 youth received ASL domestic violence/healthy relationship training.

DEAF & RESIDENTIAL SERVICES

Catholic Community Services–Deaf & Residential Services are provided by four organizations in Arizona and New Mexico that seek to maximize independence for people with hearing loss or developmental disabilities. Community Outreach Program for the Deaf in Tucson (COPD) and Albuquerque, NM (COPD-NM), and Valley Center of the Deaf (VCD) in Phoenix provide services for Deaf, DeafBlind and Hard of Hearing persons. The Community Living Program (CLP) in Tucson provides residential living supports to people with developmental disabilities.

gaining stability to live with dignity

Alexa was just getting out of a volatile and abusive long-term relationship when she came to CCS-Deaf & Residential Services' Community Outreach Program for the Deaf (COPD). She was struggling to function and live on her own and needed case management as well as other services, like interpretation, life skills education, and mental health treatment.

But there was another problem—Alexa was often disoriented, worried, and confused. She couldn't remember things she should have been able to. She didn't have answers to basic questions.

"I was really worried about her," said Lindsay, her COPD case manager. "I wondered how she had been able to survive."

The cause of the problem presented itself when Alexa went into a seizure one day at COPD. She was diagnosed with epilepsy, a disorder she had been suffering from for a long time. Lindsay took her to multiple doctor appointments to interpret and advocate for her. She also helped Alexa obtain and manage her medications to prevent more seizures.

With Alexa's many challenges, Lindsay worked with Deaf & Residential Services' Community Living Program to move Alexa into its supportive housing. She also established the services of a representative payee to handle Alexa's finances.

Lindsay's dedicated efforts have given Alexa a much happier and stable life with dignity. Alexa comes in often to check in with Lindsay, grateful for the support she provides. "I like her. She's nice and gives me a lot of help," expressed Alexa.

THE KOLBE SOCIETY

The Kolbe Society meets the spiritual needs of incarcerated Catholic men, women, and youth and their families as well as those returning to the community after incarceration. This ministry provides services in all prisons, jails, and detention facilities located in Tucson, Marana, Douglas, Bisbee, Florence, Eloy, Globe, Safford, Yuma, and several other small communities.

Priests, deacons, religious, and lay volunteers provide approximately 75 weekly services, including Mass, Communion Services, pastoral visits, religious education, and sacramental preparation for approximately 1,000 incarcerated people.

The Kolbe Society provides a monthly shuttle service to help families visit loved ones incarcerated outside the Tucson area. At a monthly gathering, families also have an opportunity to support each other and share their experiences with new family members, discuss issues and concerns, and ask questions.

As part of its Re-entry Program, Kolbe Society mentors accompany released citizens as they rebuild their lives. Beginning during the last months of a sentence and continuing up to one year after release, mentors provide emotional and spiritual support and encouragement to mentees, connecting them to vital community resources and helping secure stable housing, employment and transportation. These efforts support a successful transition into the community and reduce recidivism.

THE ST. JEANNE JUGAN MINISTRY WITH ELDERLY

This ministry is focused on developing and supporting parish-based ministries throughout the Diocese of Tucson to serve the increasingly large numbers of Catholics moving into assisted living communities. The ministry assists pastors and lead volunteers in recruiting and training ministers to help provide parish outreach for elders. This includes making a spiritual connection through visitation and taking the Eucharist to those who are living in nursing homes, in the hospital, in hospice care or who are otherwise homebound due to illness or mobility challenges.

The program's director, Manny Guzman, coordinates trainings and outreach throughout all regions of the diocese to raise the importance of this work of the Church through development of a spirituality of aging. The program's chaplain, Father Ray Ratzenberger, visits nearly 20 nursing homes in the Tucson metro area over the course of a month with the assistance of volunteers. The ministry is named after St. Jeanne Jugan, the foundress of the Little Sisters of the Poor, who operate skilled nursing facilities throughout the world for elders.

THE ALITAS PROGRAM

Throughout the year, the Alitas Program continued serving weary migrants after they were released from Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) with temporary legal status. Migrants were brought to Casa Alitas, where they could rest, clean up, eat, find new clothing, review their travel itineraries, and get supplies for their journeys ahead. Last fiscal year, the Alitas Program assisted nearly 500 families representing over 1,200 people, many of whom were unable to stay in ICE detention facilities because of extenuating circumstances such as advanced pregnancy, serious injuries, or inadequate English or Spanish skills. The program also continues to accept unaccompanied minors who "age out" of youth detention facilities. Instead of being sent to an adult detention center, the youth can be brought to Casa Alitas where they can stay for a few weeks while volunteers help them contact family members and make travel arrangements.

All of the migrants that have come through the Alitas Program have been blessed by its hospitable and welcoming spirit. Kindness and the acknowledgment of their human dignity have strengthened them in a very difficult journey.
